Germans Cease Strike in Ruhr And Rhineland

Settlement Brings Forth Great Improvement in Occupied Territory; Invaders Will Feed Civilian Population

Embargo is Extended

Benzol, Tar and All Mine By-Products Not Permitted to Cross into Unoccupied Germany No Mine Output

(By the Associated Press.)

The strike of the railway men in the Rhineland and a large portion of the Ruhr has ended and a resumption of train service begun. In the Ruhr basin, where strikers have not returned to their jobs, the French are operating trains. The tie-up at Mayence continues because of a refusal by the French to release railway men under arrest on charges of sabotage.

In the mines, however, the coal diggers are practically idle and Friday's output was practically nil.

The French customs cordon which was set up to block the transportation of coal and other reparation goods from occupied into unoccupied Germany is being maintained rigidly.

In addition to coal and coke an embargo also has been placed by the French on benzol, tar and other coal by-products.

Along the canals and on the Rhine and in the portions of the Ruhr where the rail strike continues, the French have taken charge of the feeding of the civilian population and furnishing coal to industries.

Announcement is made that the French in a few days will be able to transport coal into France.

Major General Allen, the American unofficial observer, has withdrawn from the Rhineland high commission.

No disturbances have been reported from any of the affected regions.

Dusseldorf, Feb. 2. — The calling of the railroad strike by the German authorities and obedience by the railway men to a request of the authorities that they resume work on all lines where they would not come in contact with armed French soldiers were the outstanding developments today in the events of a day that was regarded by observers as having brought forth a new phase in the French position in the Ruhr and the Rhineland. A majority of the railroad workers in both regions adopted the suggestion of the authorities that they resume their jobs.

Complete stoppage of all exports of coal and coke into the interior of Germany during the last 48 hours, together with the extension today of similar restrictions on shipments of benzol, tar, and all other mine by-products were other developments considered of advantage to the French.

In addition the French have taken over the handling of food trains consigned to the regions traversed by the railroads where strikes still are in effect, and also directed the transportation by barges on the canals and the Rhine of sufficient coal for the needs of local populations and industries.

The complete cessation of coal production at the mines, now virtually accomplished, and the inability of the French to send by rail into France any coal for the reparations account were the developments in the situation favoring Germany in her policy of resistance.

In assuming charge of the feeding of the civil population in the Ruhr, where the railway strike persisted, the French moved three trains into the region today, manned by French crews. The trains were consigned to Essen, Dortmund, and Gelsenkirchen, warehouses and markets. French troops commenced the hauling of coal through Ruhrort and down the Rhine to Dusseldorf to supply the needs of civilians and industries.

Resumption of work on the railroads is complete at Cologne, Coblenz, Trier and Ludwigshafen, and practically complete on the Ruhr lines excepting those encircling the industrial basin. These lines, the French are operating. At Mayence the strike is in full swing owing to the French refusal to obey an ultimatum of the railway men that they release strikers under arrest. The French declined to acquiesce in this demand on the ground that the railway men had not been arrested as strikers but for common law acts and sabotage.

The mining operations today reached the lowest level. Production was practically nil. The miners descended in to the pits but only to repair the galleries. They did no actual mining. In an endeavor to solve the situation created by a shortage in empty cars, instructions have been issued not to send out from the Ruhr more loaded cars daily than empty cars are returned.

It developed today that orders from Berlin for the strike of the railway men to begin were delivered by special agents personally to every station master in the Ruhr and the Rhineland. The order was accomplished by one month's pay in advance.

The French announced today that their embargo on coal and coke is maintained at midnight of Wednesday and that it was permitted to enter Germany. The embargo was lifted on the basis of a 25,000 tons of coal went into the interior, but that today not a single ton of coal nor a gallon of tar or benzol passed the Ruhr frontier.

The French brand as false a story circulated from German sources that one train since the embargo was in force, they declare that no attempt at such a maneuver was made. It was added that the French were unimpaired with slight damage.

POLITICAL PARTY ACTION BY LEAGUE

Gillett Charges Anti-Saloon Organization, Chaining Distribution of Campaign Literature

Albany, Feb. 2. — Charges that the Anti-Saloon League of New York distributed among voters last fall propaganda urging the election of former Governor Nathan L. Miller, against that in doing so it took the status of a political organization, were made in supreme court today by Colonel Ransom H. Gillett of Troy.

Colonel Gillett appeared before Justice Ellis J. Staley as counsel for several residents of Troy in an action requiring the league to show cause why it should not be required to file with the secretary of state a statement of money expended by it during the primary and general elections campaign last fall.

Pastors of churches throughout the state were urged in a letter from the league, Colonel Gillett declared, to get the voters list in their districts and send them to the headquarters of the league so that the voters might be furnished literature classifying candidates for state offices as to their stand on prohibition and its enforcement. That he added, is exactly what district committees of recognized political parties are expected to do.

The "American Issue," the official publication of the league, printed an article after election, Colonel Gillett charged, explaining that the outcome of the elections might have been changed had the league been able to get before the three-quarters of a million voters on its mailing list the record of Governor Smith. The report given for the failure of that part of the program, he said, was that the league had not enough money.

Former State Senator Edgar T. Brackett, who conducted the case of the league, submitted a brief which, he said, denied all the charges in detail. The league is conducted for the education of the people against liquor traffic and its object the enactment and enforcement of laws designed to stop that traffic, he explained.

FATAL EXPLOSION CAUSED BY SPARK

Springfield Accident Investigation Still at Work; Many Suits for Damages

Springfield, Feb. 2. — Investigation to determine the cause of the explosion in the purifying plant of the Springfield Gas Light company yesterday afternoon, which resulted in three deaths, injuries to scores and wide spread damage, is still under way. It is now believed that the explosion was caused by a spark from an electric elevator in the center of the building.

The investigation indicated that workmen were at work turning off a valve on one of the furnaces which had been leaking when the explosion occurred. Officers are awaiting the results of an investigation by Captain Walter R. Wedger, expert on explosives of the Massachusetts state police. Six men who were at work in the plant when the explosion occurred said that water in the filter boxes had become dangerously low and that frantic efforts were being made to turn off the supply of gas into the filter at the time of the explosion.

Estimates of the damage caused by the explosion vary, but it is expected that the figure will total approximately $100,000. Replacement damage is estimated at about $1,000,000.

Suits for property damage totaling $67,000 have already been brought against the Gas Light company by individuals and concerns.

WILLARD OPPOSES HARDING'S PLAN FOR POOLING EQUIPMENT

Albany, Feb. 2. — President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, speaking at the local chamber of commerce today, opposed President Harding's recent suggestion to Congress that railroad equipment of the country be pooled. He declared that the transportation act of 1920 is the best plan to be followed for the pooling of the railroads and urged that it be given a fair chance.

"We are operating with fewer locomotives and cars than at the termination of federal control of the railroads," he said, "and despite this we have moved a greater volume of business than was done under federal control when our equipment was pooled."

BLIND WINS SCHOLARSHIPS

Chicago, Feb. 2. — Blind since birth, George H. Weinmann, 23, has accomplished that which no student at Northwestern university with perfect eyesight has done — won two law school scholarships in the same year — it was announced today.

"My mother is my eyes," he said. "She reads all my work to me and I brief the cases just as any other student does."

He explained that he kept his notes on a slate and typed in the raised dots of the Braille system — the language of the blind. His work is finished on a standard typewriter.

ELKS WANT LESS DRUGS

Washington, Feb. 2. — Resolutions passed by several hundred Elks lodges asking President Harding to call a conference of nations to limit production of habit forming drugs were presented to the President today by a delegation of Chicago Elks.

Mr. Harding told the delegation that if it were found possible enforcement of the present anti-drug laws would be tightened. He said he was in hearty sympathy with the general purpose behind the resolutions.

COMPLETE DEBT FUNDING PLANS WITH BRITAIN

Final Draft Probably Will Be Sent to President Harding Some Time Today

BONUS AMENDMENT

Executive Disapproves Any Rider to Use Funds to Pay Adjusted Compensation

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Feb. 2. — The plan for funding Great Britain's wartime debt to the United States was completed late today by final action of the American debt funding commission in conference with Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador. Announcement was made later, when details of the plan were made public, that the draft would be sent to President Harding tomorrow with recommendations by the commission that it be given executive approval and transmitted to Congress.

In conformity with previous announcements, the plan contemplates final extinguishment of the debt in 42 years with interest rates fixed at three per cent for the first 10 years from Dec. 15, 1922 and three and one-half per cent thereafter, together with a fixed schedule of annual amortization payments approximating an average of one-half of one per cent of the principal.

The annual installments are scheduled to begin with payment of $22,000,000 this year, but the British government is given the right to make the annual payments in three year periods instead of every 12 months. The amount of the annual payments will progressively increase until in the 42nd year the payment will be $115,000,000 and the total of all the payments will aggregate the total principal of the debt.

The question of the soldier bonus amendment to any legislation transferring the settlement into law, shadowed yesterday in Congress, cropped up again today. Representative Garner, Texas, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, assailed the funding commission's work as having been a settlement outside the law which created the commission and made possible the extension of time to the foreign countries in which to pay their war time obligations to the United States.

Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, countered with a statement that members of the funding commission had conferred with Republican leaders in Congress regarding terms which would be acceptable to Congress and added that while Congress was not bound by the commission's action, he believed Congress would accept it by a large majority.

At the White House, it was said, President regarded the injection of the soldier bonus issue into the settlement as unseemly at this time and, so far as the executive branch of the government was concerned, the soldier bonus proposal should be counted out. From this statement, leaders in the administration predicted that all of the administration support that ever has been mustered behind the President would back up his stand if and when the bonus amendment is put forward. The President was declared to be opposed not only to the soldier bonus amendment, but to the attaching of any other rider to the legislation ratifying the debt settlement.

RETIRED TRAINMAN DIES

Albany, Feb. 2. — Merwin J. Broughman, of 229 First street, summoned Dr. Philip C. Hackett at 10 o'clock this morning to attend his father, Joseph H. B. 82, a retired railroad fireman, who was stricken suddenly. When Dr. Hackett arrived he found the aged man had been dead an hour. Coroner Mullen instructed Dr. Thomas H. Holmes to make an examination, which disclosed that death was due to hardening of the arteries. Permission was given to Watkins Brothers, undertakers, to prepare the body for burial.

The Day In Washington

The Lenroot-Anderson credits bill was passed by the senate which then was disposed of the last of such measures before it.

Instructions to Major General Allen, who commanded American troops in Germany, to withdraw from the Rhineland high commission as American observer, were made public by the state department.

Reporting that customs receipts for January totaled $16,245,931, an increase of $7,000,000 over December collections, treasury officials predicted revenues for the current fiscal year would amount to $450,000,000.

At one of the morning sessions in the senate, Senator Hays, Democrat, Alabama, was twice rebuffed by the senate, which expounded from the record certain remarks made by him concerning Senators Wadsworth, New York, and Coughlin, Michigan, Republicans, as well as a statement by Senator Coughlin regarding the Alabama senator.

An agreement was reached on details of the British debt funding program by the American funding commission in conference today with Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador. The commission's recommendations will be forwarded to the White House tomorrow and President Harding, who has expressed approval of them, is expected to transmit the report to Congress next week.

SENATE PASSES FARM AID BILL

Unanimous Vote Measure Going Through Without Any Material Amendment

Washington, Feb. 2. — Consideration of farm credits legislation was concluded by the senate tonight when it passed the Lenroot-Anderson bill. The measure now goes to the house where the Capper co-operative credits bill is under study.

The vote was unanimous, 69 to 0, the measure going through without material amendment. The vote, however, was not made unanimous until Senator Norris, Republican, South Dakota, had withdrawn a lone near-vote, explaining that he would be "a good fellow."

The Lenroot-Anderson bill provides for a maximum credit of $1,320,000,000 for agricultural loans through the existing farm loan system by establishment of 12 agricultural credit departments in the 12 land bank districts. Each would have $2,000,000 capital from the government with authority to double the entire capital of $360,000,000. Authority to issue $1,360,000,000 in tax free debentures, to provide additional loaning capital would be given subject to approval of the farm loan board.

The new credit departments would make loans from six months to three years on agricultural paper to co-operative agricultural associations on stable products or live stock. Interest rates chargeable would not be in excess of one and one-half per cent above the land banks' discount rates. The debentures authorized would not bear over six per cent interest, under an amendment by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, adopted today by the senate after acceptance by Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, co-author of the bill. An amendment by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, to have direct loans made to individual farmers, was defeated.

CORBIN SITUATION GETTING SERIOUS

25 National Guardsmen Called in to Preserve Peace; Officials Resigning

Corbin, Ky., Feb. 2. — A strained situation ascribed by officials to be a gun battle early today between railroad workers and special officers in which 25 national guardsmen were called in, has resulted in the ordering of 25 national guardsmen here for duty.

In an appeal to Governor Morrow for troops, Mayor John Gilliam and Sheriff Young of Whitesburg county, were said to have declared the situation, while quiet, was getting beyond the control of the local officials. It was said special police recently appointed were unable to obtain others to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations.

The cause of today's gun battle has not been established definitely. J. C. Barker, 44, train dispatcher for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and George Taden, of London, Ky., a special policeman, were killed. Jess E. Parker, switchman, and Fred Day, special officer, were wounded. The officers were members of a detail of special police appointed after the dynamiting recently of a rooming house here. Seven other men were injured seriously and the lives of 15 railroad workers imperiled.

Corbin, key to the Cumberland valley division of the Louisville & Nashville, was the center of a bitter controversy during the railroad strike last summer and since that time has been the scene of several disturbances. Generally, however, suggestions that labor trouble was back of the outbreaks were dismissed by local officials.

New York, Feb. 2. — Ragged, penniless and worn from three years of incessant exile, 112 former officers of the Imperial Russian army, who fought in the unsuccessful Denikin and Wrangel campaigns against the Soviet government, today arrived with their families from Constantinople on the Madonna.

The group, headed by General Vladimir Varshinko, who said he was once head of the late czar's guard, and General Erkuksa, a former leader in the Denikin army, was taken to Ellis Island to await definition of their status by immigration authorities. They said they had been given special permission to embark for the United States by the American consul in Constantinople on their plea that they would be massacred if the British withdrew from Turkey.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS CONTINUE IMPROVEMENT

Washington, Feb. 2. — January business conditions in the United States, as shown by statistics compiled by the commerce department, continued the favorable trend evident during the closing weeks of 1922.

Bituminous coal production averaged 11,000,000 tons a week during the month, lumber production increased steadily after the year-end slump, and building contracts increased steadily, the total for the week ending January 26, being $23,537,000. Wood receipts for the week ending January 26, were the largest since last summer.

Work of One Official

Collects Evidence as Driver of Ash Cart, Ice and Coal Wagons and as Colonel at Fashionable Ball

Washington, Feb. 2. — J. L. Asher, a revenue agent from the Kentucky mountains who came to Washington three weeks ago and has put in his time since in guises ranging from an ash cart driver to a Kentucky colonel at a fashionable ball, today directed more than 60 capital revenue agents and police in liquor raids on 60 places, netting the arrest of about 90 persons, including 12 women and the confiscation of more than 300 gallons of intoxicants.

Evidence for the raids which were begun in five police precincts at 11 o'clock this morning and were not completed until late in the day, was obtained almost entirely by Asher.

The five precinct stations presented their busiest appearance in years as bondsmen hastened to gain the release of prisoners, practically all of whom were held for $1,500 bail, and police and revenue agents guarded prisoners and directed the storage of huge supplies of corn whiskey, bonded goods and wine carried in from the raided homes in government trucks and automobiles. In only one instance were the raiders disappointed by failure to find the goods described by the Kentuckian.

Asher first drove into the underworld in quest of the bootlegger rendezvous aboard an ice wagon as helper. He then switched to an ash cart and quickly caught the trail of victims as he picked up the "empties" in all corners of the city.

Then as a coal wagon driver, he got into the homes again, assisting in storing away the coal and modestly accepting pint bottle rewards. He later appeared as a piano tuner and again as a lawyer.

Before long Asher won the confidence of the principal bootleggers in various sections and, by aiding them to stow away the goods in his capacity as a wagon driver and helper, gained knowledge of numerous and clever hiding places for the goods.

He was quick to the secret rooms, these including holes in the wall, baby cribs, pianos, Victrolas and the like.

GERMAN NOTE PROTESTS COMMISSION'S ACTION

(By the Associated Press.) Paris, Feb. 2. — The German government today addressed a note to the reparations commission protesting against the decision of the commission, delivered January 26, refusing Germany a moratorium, and insisting that the commission in accordance with the peace treaty proceed to a new investigation of the capacity of Germany to pay reparations.

This was the first attempt made by Germany since the occupation of the Ruhr to resume exchanges with the allies, which were interrupted by the virtual suspension of diplomatic relations between Germany, France and Belgium.

CLARENCE NEVER SPANKED; WILL BE TODAY BY JUDGE

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2. — Clarence Persel, 14 years old, who, his parents say, never has been spanked, will be publicly whipped in the juvenile court room here tomorrow morning. Judge E. L. Porterfield announced today.

Clarence was before the court today on a charge of truancy. His father said Clarence had never been spanked.

"I may use my name," Judge Porterfield said. "There is one thing sure and certain, I am going to teach that youngster a lesson."

"I wouldn't have so many boys and girls in my court if their parents would apply the palm of hand or hair brush where it would do the most good."

TIE UP DR. COOK'S MONEY

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 2. — Dr. Fredrick Cook's bank account has been tied up by a temporary injunction granted by his wife, Mrs. Marie Cook, by Judge E. L. Roy.

The doctor's bank and oil promoter met a barage of legal charges and relations following his arrest here Wednesday night. His wife said his arrest on the grounds of alleged cruelty and charges of unlawfully possessing a quart of gin were docked against him with United States Commissioner Barker.

Holding officers stated that Dr. Cook and a companion were caught in a hotel room in possession of the quart of gin. Dr. Cook through his attorney denied this.

INSUNCTION PERMANENT

Cleveland, Feb. 2. — Judge D. C. Westchester, of the United States district court here late today issued a permanent injunction restraining members of the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers and the National Window Glass Workers from picketing their wayward employer from March 1, and ordering the absorption of the two period plans in operation in hand blown glass factories of the country.

Several thousand workers and plants producing hand-blown glass in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Ohio are affected.

AMERICAN LIEUTENANT BACK OF FRANCE

Commander Overley Also Says He Is Opposed to Cancellation of Debt

Union, Feb. 2. — "The American Legion behind France in her current march back to the German empire," said National Commander Edwin M. Overley tonight at the annual banquet of the Oneida County American Legion.

"I am absolutely opposed to the cancellation of a single dollar of the American foreign debt," he said. "There are certain individuals who have made private loans to foreign countries, who advocate this. They want to make certain of the payment of their debt. And I'll say more about it when I reach New York."

A bitter denunciation of the other contract defaulters and a solemn promise to exert his full power to bring them to jail if necessary, were made by the Legion head.

He also advocated the embargo of English in all schools and the American flag being flown on all school houses during hours of instruction.

A strong plea was made to service men not believers in the tenet of adjusted compensation, to affiliate with the Legion. The measure is not a bonus, he said.

$245.44 BONUS TO ALL ENDICOTT-JOHNSON MEN

Johnson City, Feb. 2. — The maximum bonus to be received by any employee of the Endicott-Johnson corporation for 1922, under the profit-sharing policy, will be $245.44. It was learned today.

The bonuses will be paid by check to employees eligible under the profit-sharing rules at the rate of $4.73 a week. Payment will be made February 15.

The bonus is computed on the basis of the actual weeks worked by each employee, so that those who lost time through illness or vacation will receive less than those who worked the entire 52 weeks.

The bonus will be the largest ever distributed since Endicott-Johnson was incorporated and the profit-sharing plan adopted.

WILL EXHIBIT JUNKY BONE

New York, Feb. 2. — Examination of the body of James Jones, known as "The Mad Bomber," which was found in the Hudson river, is expected to bring out evidence that will prove beyond a doubt the national identity of the man who is believed to have exploded the bomb which killed a woman at Washington yesterday.

NATIONAL AERIAL DAY IS DEMANDED

Aviation Urges That Annual Tribute Be Paid Flyers Who Have Given Lives.

ALSO TO WOMEN MATRONS

Plan Has Official Approval of the Chiefs of Army and Navy Air Service—Lillian Gatlin in Back of the Movement.

Don't you think that the men who gave their lives in the development of flying should be remembered?

Washington.—A young woman in aviation clothes stooped beside a flyer's grave in Arlington the other day and placed there a pink rose, a spray of white chrysanthemum and a bit of Jerusalem lily. Twenty-four army and navy officers stood at attention close by. From overhead came the thrum of five planes flying in formation, while in the background some 500 onlookers watched the little ceremony.

From this grave the young aviatrix and her little company went to the other 48 flyers' graves in the national cemetery, and last, to the grave of the unknown soldier, leaving each time the three floral tributes.

The young woman who paid this honor to the aviators who have given their lives for the country was Lillian Gatlin. She is the girl who recently came East by the air mail route from San Francisco to New York, thereby becoming the first woman to fly across the country.

Began Flying in 1911.

Miss Gatlin has been flying since 1911, and she considers herself one of the pioneers. Many of the aviators who were her friends have crashed to earth, leaving mothers, who had been so proud of them, suddenly broken. Because she gets the point of view both of the aviators who flew until they crashed in spite of everything and of the mothers they left, Miss Gatlin is giving herself to the cause of proving that the flyers are not forgotten.

She has asked President Harding to permit her to designate the second Sunday in September as a national aerial day, when tribute may be paid to the gold star mothers of aviation and their sons. Her plan has the official approval of Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, and of Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the naval air service.

To stop in the midst of our busy whirl to place a flower on a grave once more is a thing that should not be done here and there and gone on, may seem a sentimental thing. The strictly practical minded would agree with Vachel Lindsay that "To live in mankind is far more than to live in a name."

But most people cannot take so Spartan a view. The fact remains that almost every individual craves to be remembered either for his personality or for his achievements. Miss Gatlin points out that the man who provides in his will for a tombstone generally does so because he is afraid no one else will erect a stone for him and that his name will be forgotten. The carved name on a stone is his one hope of keeping his name alive.

Flyers Not to Be Forgotten.

Miss Gatlin is determined that the flyers who risked their lives that aviation might progress are not going to be forgotten. Their mothers are to have the comfort of being assured that their boys have not given their lives for nothing.

Miss Gatlin tells about it eagerly. She is a blonde young woman with a boyish, straightforward manner of speech and gesture, which contrasts with her close sympathy for the maternal point of view and her feminine use of symbolism.

Everything about her method of paying tribute to the flyers has some significant association. She placed the Jerusalem lily on the graves at Arlington because it is said that it never dies. Each part of the flyer's costume she wore on her trip East once belonged to some aviator who has "gone on," as Miss Gatlin puts it. The pair of white baby shoes she carries for a charm are associated with a flyer who crashed just before his baby was born. These little shoes interested President Harding when he talked with Miss Gatlin about the proposed national tribute. The pink roses are reminiscent of Lincoln Beachey.

GOUT NOW ALMOST EXTINCT

London Physician Declares That Change to Temperate Habits is Responsible.

London.—Gout, the age-old disease with which so many members of the aristocracy used to be afflicted, is now nearly extinct, according to Sir William Wilson, prominent physician, who declared in a recent lecture that he had not seen a case of primary gout—that is, gout attacking a person for the first time—for several years.

He attributed the disappearance to more temperate drinking habits and the modern tendency to get away from the fatter foods and return to the simpler and more wholesome diet.

STILL DREAMING OF HOME

City Man of Small Business Laments That Country Cannot Graciously His Desires.

I am one of many thousands, city-people, who for many years have dreamed of a little house somewhere in the hills or within sight of the sea. Every year the urge grows stronger, and every year the little place seems more hopelessly out of sight, says the writer of "The Point of View" in Scribner's. The city is a big place, but the country seems bigger, and where to look and how, ever more perplexing. I have told all my friends that I am looking, and asked them to give me a tip if they hear of any place that they think I might like or can afford to buy; and now and then I hear of the perfect place, to be had for some ridiculously modest sum, and of charming homes found by this and that seeker after his haven of peace and quiet. But my little house is ever in the dim beyond and my hope grows fainter with the years. Maybe I am in search of a place that never was on land or sea, that exists only in my dreams.

I read the real-estate advertisements, and look at the little houses illustrated in the magazines devoted to home building, and see many cozy small houses that would quite satisfy my longings, but when I investigate the cost of building even the simplest of them, I pause and wonder if the price does not call for gold bricks as a part of the foundation instead of just ordinary building material.

So I start again in my search for the abandoned farm that can be bought, with a little old house all ready to be called home, with the expenditure of only a few hundred dollars.

The chimney may be falling down and the roof caving in, the sides full of holes for the winds and snows of winter to come in, but the lines are always "so picturesque," and the big fireplace and Dutch oven are there to recall the days of the real Americans who lived and shivered back in the time when there were plain living and honest thinking.

For afield have I ventured in the search for my little house, and spent enough good money to put new roofs on most of the tumble-down houses I have looked at from a distance with ever-renewed hope.

Work for Disabled Soldiers.

Today Czechoslovakia is flooding all Europe with quantities of her famous lacquer work wood novelties—mostly the work of soldiers wounded and partially disabled in the World war. The shops in Prague display fans, jewel boxes, trays, brushes, combs and other wooden articles of every description, all brilliantly colored and carved in the distinctively Czechoslovakian style. No set designs are to be found. Each bit of woodwork is made after a new pattern, so that no two pieces are alike. This feature of their work protects their wares in foreign markets, where machine production has introduced many substitutes. The government has leased hundreds of working rooms in various parts of the country, set aside for this particular industry. Trained men instruct recruits in the technique of the work, but the designing and the composition of each particular piece is always left to the idea or whim of the man who makes it. In one part of the room one finds men with no arms toiling with marvelous ingenuity with a stylus between their toes. Fully half of this work today is done with the feet.—Milwaukee Journal.

FOR BETTER SERVICE

Franklin Electric Light and Power Co.
The Service Commission has been organized to improve the service rendered by the Franklin Electric Light and Power Company. The commission is composed of representatives of the public and the company. The hearing resulted from the complaint of citizens of Franklin in regard to the poor quality of service which the company was giving in that community.

The complaints were represented by Attorney Wood D. VanderWerken of Otsego while the Light and Power company was represented by Attorney C. C. Fitch of Oneonta. The New York State Gas and Electric corporation had been cited to appear and was represented by President McKee of Otsego. Dr. F. B. Rose of Franklin, vice president of the Delaware and Otsego Light and Power company, was also present.

The propositions discussed involved the aid of the New York State Gas and Electric corporation in helping the Delaware and Otsego company to render better service. One proposition was that the N. Y. S. Gas and Electric corporation should purchase the stock of the D. & L. company. Another was that the N. Y. S. Gas and Electric corporation should purchase the plant at East Otsego. These three propositions were presented and discussed at length by the representatives of the interests concerned. Decision in the matter was reserved by the commission.

JAPANESE OPERATTA.

"The Yokohama Maid" to Open the New Elks' Home Auditorium.

With every minute of its two acts as refreshing and colorful as a new scene in June, "The Yokohama Maid," Arthur Penn's light opera success, will formally open the new auditorium at the Elks' home on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, and also be the attraction there for the two following nights. Most elaborate in its scenic equipment it at times borders on the spectacular. It has a remarkable cast and supporting company to the number of fifty, 75 per cent of whom are fifty girls of decided vivaciousness, selected especially for singing and dancing ability as well as beauty of form and face. "The Yokohama Maid" does not depend upon the quality of its elaborate scenic and costume effects for praise, for it abounds in beautiful music, a concise and humorous story, the plot of which has unusual strength for a musical play. A special orchestra of 15 will interpret the score. Tickets are on sale at City Drug store and as the capacity is limited to 700, those intending to witness this pre-Springtime operetta novelty should purchase tickets at once to avoid possible disappointment.

Good-By, Mr. Woodchuck!

Yesterday morning the sun was shining brightly in Oneonta and in all this part of the state; and the restless woodchuck, if perchance he broke his winter nap, had no difficulty whatever in seeing his shadow. Accordingly, according to tradition, he turned himself about and went to sleep again for six weeks in the furthest fastness of his burrow. As for the time of year to which he has retired, no such painful method of passing the next month and a half, we will have plenty of exercise in earning the price of fuel during working hours and shoveling it into the furnace at night.

How About a Tumble?

Greece and Rome once lead in knowledge, power and wealth, but reached their zenith and tumbled. How about this country? Hadn't we better think less about jazz music, the shimmy dance and the movies and more about how I am helping little fellows to get homes, farms and contentment for old age and thus stop Red Devilism from giving us a tumble? Get the discontented and whiners to send me $6 for January and $5 each month thereafter and see how I'll safely roll it up at six per cent compound interest, hand them $1,000.00 each and get them out of the pull down chain. Make it $11, and $16, and I'll double it. Whoop-ee! It sure does help to prevent a tumble and keep Uncle Sam from having to use the big stick. Hadn't we better put on our thinking cap? I'm the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. advt 11.

Five Thousand Tons of Ice Taken From Goodyear Lake.

The Oneonta Ice and Fuel company started its ice harvest at Goodyear lake yesterday and now has 4,500 tons of ice stored in the plant there and 1,000 tons stacked for more immediate use. Operations at Pond Lily will be started about the middle of next week provided weather conditions are favorable.

The ice harvest at Goodyear lake runs from 12 to 14 inches in thickness and is excellent quality. All of the snow has been planed off, several inches of ice being sacrificed at times to assure firm, clear cakes.

Alternate periods of thawing and freezing held up the work to a great extent, the harvest starting at least two weeks later than normally. Once operations were begun, however, they proceeded smoothly and harvesting records were broken nearly every day that work was in progress.

HEARING ADJOURNED.

The latter intimated that a further adjournment would be asked to permit a more extended examination of the petition filed by Mrs. Lyon.

Youth Is Served Again

When William Morris, 20-year-old son of a Glasgow (Ky.) stamper, first eloped with pretty Carolyn Shuster of New York and Baltimore, the bride's bride parents secured her return. The second elopement was more successful and the young couple are shown here on their honeymoon in Baltimore.

LATEST VIOLENCE NO. 2

Happenings of Current Interest in Chicago and Surrounding Counties.

George Young of Gallupville, ex-soldier, retired farmer and prominent citizen, left town recently and the day is said to have gone Mrs. William Weidman, wife of a prosperous farmer. They were seen together on a Middleburgh & Schenectady train and later in the union station at Albany where they boarded a train for the west. A pathetic feature of the case is that the wife of Young died suddenly soon after the elopement. A letter from Young mailed at Chicago tenders his resignation as executor.

Readers of The Star will recall a death in Rome, Italy, of the distinguished American artist, Elihu Vedder, who it was stated received his first instruction in art at Sherburne, Chenango county. His instructor was T. H. Matteson, who in early life had a studio in New York, removing from that city to Sherburne. While he resided in Sherburne Mr. Vedder lived with Alexander Holmes in a house now standing and located opposite the railroad garage in that village. In an interview a few years ago in Rome with one who recalled his earlier days in Chenango, Mr. Vedder spoke in highest terms of Mr. Matteson, who he affirmed, given the advantages of Paris, Florence and Rome, might have been one of the greatest artists in the world.

Joseph Walter Isogates of Endicott, who on Friday shot his 18-year-old wife, Anna, pleaded guilty on Thursday to murder in the second degree and was sentenced by Justice A. L. Borge of this city, who was in Binghamton to make arrangements for the trial, to not less than 20 years in the Auburn State prison.

There were 1,228 hunting licenses issued in Schenectady county last year, which was over 100,000 more than the year before. Of 23 kinds of game listed, there was decrease in 14 varieties of number shot, and an increase in 9 varieties. The greatest decrease was in muskrat, of which less than a third as many were taken.

There have been five wardens appointed: C. G. Danforth, Milo H. Mayham, H. M. Dayton, R. C. Jones and L. I. Treadwell, in the town of Jefferson.

Max Blivitch, a Binghamton cattle dealer, was in Edinboro last week and bought 24 head of tuberculin condemned cattle which he proceeded to load into a 36 foot car. When they arrived at Sidney five or six of the cattle were down and three were dead.

Humans (officer) helped took charge of the case, unloaded the animals, remaining, placed them in two cars and forwarded them to destination. Mr. Phelps states that further proceedings will be taken against him prosecuted to a finish.

Miss Bernice H. Finch, a graduate of the Oneonta Normal school and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Finch of Sidney, has been appointed to fill a vacancy in the musical department of the Ithaca public schools. Miss Finch is a senior in the violin department of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music.

Elsworth Reynolds, a life-long resident of Elmira, has sold his residence there to Mr. Klein, owner of the Maple Villa, consideration $3,000, and will move to New York city, during the next few days.

It is stated that the big ice house at Athens of the Knickerbocker Ice company has been purchased by a company for the purpose of raising mushrooms. Large ice houses near Troy are used for the same purpose.

Albert B. Payne, a leading life-long resident of Balmbridge, died on Monday morning after a week's illness of pneumonia. He was 68 years of age and was postmaster at Balmbridge under the Cleveland administration, and afterwards deputy postmaster under the Republican administration until three years ago. Between these two periods of service he was mail clerk on the Central with headquarters in Albany. He is survived by his wife and two brothers, Frank and Doris Payne, of Balmbridge, also by a sister, Mrs. Wilcox, of Milford.

The jury at Norwich in the Collins murder case, the result of which was in three columns of Thursday, took two ballots. On the first the vote stood nine for acquittal, two for first degree murder and one for manslaughter. Another ballot was taken soon after and all were for acquittal.

Romance isn't dead yet. Catherine O'Brien, a Syracuse Lake girl, married a young man she supposed was a laborer, but he turned out to be a son of Gaston Boissonault, a wealthy Long Island man, inventor of the dictograph, and she is being received cordially in the family.

Mrs. William G. Rockefeller Helps Daughter to Safety When Flames Break Out

New York, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Elsie Sullivan Rockefeller, widow of William G. Rockefeller, helped her fifteen-year-old daughter, Almira, and six women servants flee in their night clothes early yesterday when fire was discovered in the Rockefeller mansion in Madison avenue.

The household was aroused by Molly Corbett, a maid, who discovered the blaze when she arose shortly before 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Rockefeller's first thought upon awakening was of her daughter, and running barefooted through the smoke-filled hall, she lifted her from her bed and carried her down the stairs. Almira cried for her pet dog, Chippy, and tried to go back into the house, but was prevented by her mother. Chippy was saved by the governess.

Hailing a cab, Mrs. Rockefeller took her daughter to the residence of Percy Rockefeller, fully clothed herself and then returned to her home, directing the police and firemen in the removal of valuable paintings and tapestries.

Molly Corbett, the maid, arose shortly before 7 o'clock, and while she was dressing, smelled smoke. Descending to the third floor, she saw smoke pouring from a closet near Mrs. Rockefeller's boudoir. Upon opening the door, she was driven back by flames. She thereupon aroused the occupants.
